

Urceola micrantha

Urceola micrantha is a plant species in the genus Urceola. It is a shrub widespread across much of East Asia, Southeast Asia, and the Himalayas.

In Taiwan, it is used in folk medicine as an analgesic, antiphlogistic and spasmolytic agent.<sup>[2]</sup>

The species contains proanthocyanidin B2, proanthocyanidin A1 and proanthocyanidin A2.

This Apocynaceae article is a stub. You can help Wikipedia by expanding it.

